

Joint Account Holder (Spouses/Former Spouses) Ownership Share Declaration ("Declaration") - Quebec only

This Declaration is only to be completed by Quebec joint account holders who are spouses or former spouses and who wish to declare their respective share of a joint account. The purpose of this Declaration is to ensure that in the event of death of one joint account holder, the surviving joint account holder continues to have access to their respective share of the joint account. If such declaration is not made, in the event of death of one of the joint account holders, the respective share of each joint account holder will automatically correspond to half the account balance. This Declaration is inapplicable to non-spouse joint account holders and does not apply outside of Quebec.

I understand that this Declaration is used only for the purpose of remitting the above declared shares of the joint account as between the surviving joint account holder and the liquidator of the deceased joint account holder upon the death of one of the joint account holders. I understand that the joint account holders may, at any time, change their proportionate share of the joint account via a new Declaration. I understand that if no declaration is made, the respective share will correspond to half of the joint account balance.
